Referring to charges preferred against you on July 15, 1916, on account of your absence from duty without leave on July 14, 1916, and your failure to notify this office of your intention of being absent.

This office does not consider your letter of July 18th as furnishing sufficient reason for your absence as this office is informed by the street-car company that all cars were running by 6:00 p.m., on the day you were absent. There was nothing to prevent you from coming in by train and also of informing this office by telephone of any reason why you should be delayed.

Your position as Fireman is such that the Service is greatly inconvenienced by your absence when no arrangement is made to provide a substitute, and you are hereby cautioned to exercise greater care in such matters in the future.
