nay be submitted to prove date of birth.

(1) Certified copy of public record, showing date of birth and also date of the presentation of the birth record for entry. The record must be based on information filed at the time of birth or shortly thereafter, and must be accompanied by identifying data if the child is not named or if a different name is shown. (See reverse.)

(2) Certified copy of baptismal, or other church record made at the time of the birth or shortly thereafter, showing age or date of birth.

If neither of the above-described forms of evidence is available, a statement to that effect should be made and correspondence received in reply to inquiries regarding them should be submitted to the Commission. The following evidence may then be submitted:

(3) Family record (such as family Bible, baby book, diaries) made at the time of birth or shortly thereafter. Whenever possible, the original record should be transmitted to the Commission. It will be returned when it has served its purpose. If it is impracticable to forward the original record, a photostat or certified copy may be submitted. Such copies, however, must be accompanied by the affidavit of a notary public who has inspected the original record, stating over his seal whether it shows interlineation or signs of alteration, the date of the book containing the record, if ascertainable, and whether from the general appearance of the original record (faded and discolored ink and paper in keeping with purported age, etc.), the certifying officer believes that the record is acceptable and adequate as evidence of date of birth.

(4) Hospital record or statement of a practicing physician, certifying that he attended the birth and that he has a record in his possession showing the date on which it occurred.

(5) Report of the Census Bureau showing the earliest record of age or birth available. Request for such information should be addressed to the Director of the Census, Washington, D. C. In making such request, definite information must be furnished the Census Bureau as to the place of residence on June 1, 1860, 1870, 1880, and 1900; April 15, 1910; January 1, 1920; and April 1, 1930, (records for 1890 are not available), giving the name of the street and the number of the house, or the names of the cross streets between which the house was located if residing in a city; or the name of the town, township, precinct, magisterial district, militia district, beat or election district, if residing in the country; also the names of parents, or the names of other persons with whom residing on the dates specified; maiden name if married.

(6) If none of the above-mentioned forms of evidence is available, a statement to that effect should be made and correspondence in support of such a statement should be submitted. Two or more of the following may then be submitted for consideration: school records, naturalization papers, newspaper clippings properly identified as to date, immigration records, passports, genealogies, insurance policies, military discharge papers, affidavits of parents or relatives or other persons who have knowledge of the facts, or other forms of documentary evidence. (Note: It is unlawful to make copies of naturalization certificates.)

In a case where a person in the Government service requests information from the Census Bureau (see par. 5), the department concerned should, if possible, check the request before it is sent to the Census Bureau in order to insure that data necessary for proper search are presented. Any evidence as to date of birth should be reviewed by the department before it is presented to the Commission. Original documents and other evidence should be furnished, accompanied by a statement regarding discrepant dates of birth given at various times by the employee concerned.
